(LVIIIth YEAR.) THE (No. 2580.)

MARYLAND GAZETTE.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1792.

AMSTERDAM, August 17.

THE recent events in France have thrown all the men of discretion in the United Provinces into confusion. At Amsterdam and Rotterdam it is much feared that several private fortunes are totally sacrificed, and that France will gradually find herself more and more unable to fulfil her pecuniary engagements with foreigners. As yet, however, the funds have not suffered.

M. de Maulde, minister of France, having wished to depart on the 16th of August for his ordinary, with the grand pensioner, was induced to shut up his doors, on its being signified that he was no longer recognised as a minister, since the suspension of the king of France. It is thought that the same conduct will be followed by all the other powers, and that that kingdom will thus have no minister acknowledged on any.

It is further said, that the ship-builders in Holland have prepared in all haste all the vessels of war. It is a question, whether a fleet shall put to sea, and as the English minister is frequently seen in conference with the state members of the republic, it is concluded that Great-Britain will likewise take a part in the attempt of France for the establishment of the throne.

As to the armies of Prussia and Austria, their generals become very uneasy on the subject of desertion.—They fear that a great part of the soldiers will join the French, when the action shall be about to commence. It is certain, that if the armies of Prussia and Austria will experience great desertions, it will not be possible for the sovereigns to form others.

The court of Orange is always at Breda.——The young princesses employ their time in the entertainments of the theatre; but their mother, the consort of the stadtholder, holds an active correspondence with the principal cabinets of Europe. The court will return to the Hague on the 27th of August.

ALGIERS.

The conditions prescribed by the dey, and accepted by Mr. Schuldebrand, the Swedish consul, are as follow—

1. To pay immediately to the dey the sum of fifty thousand Algerine sequins, and proportional sums to the great officers of state.

2. Sweden engages to furnish the dey with 24 pieces of cannon, 24 pounders.

3. Sweden engages to pay annually the sum of 50,000 sequins in money, or the value in ammunition, to be determined by the choice of the dey.

4. If the regency of Algiers should be in want of vessels, Sweden undertakes to procure. The price and freight to be regulated by the dey.

5. Every two years the consul shall distribute among the court a present of diamonds, watches, gold stuffs, and woollen clothes, instead of the money which was formerly distributed at the same period.

The Metropolitan church of Vienna, a venerable Gothic structure, has been for many years surrounded with unsightly buildings, old shops and warehouses, which were built up against it. These are all now pulled down, and the church stands in the centre of a handsome and well-paved square, which forms a great establishment to the city.

PARIS, August 16.

M. Charles Lameth, who is arrested at Banantine, in Normandy, his brother Alexander Barnave, and all the ministers of the 1st of November, were impeached last night in the assembly. By the ministers of the 1st of November, are meant du Port, du Tertre, Dumortan, Montmorin, &c.

The king has already spent in advance two years of his civil list. Bankers lent him the money on the security of the public grant.

It appears that the court party were aware of the designs intended to be executed by the Jacobin faction on the night between the 9th and 10th, and were counterplotting to defeat their defeats.

The queen and prince-royal accompanied the king in the review of the troops on the morning of the 9th. M. de Viombull, it was proved, was at the head of the plot. He had assured himself of 100 chosen men, who could each answer for five, who again could each answer for ten. M. Duchatelet (not Brichilles) was appointed commandant, and they name the men who were to serve under him, M. Puysegur, the old marshal de Mailly, M. M. de Poix, d'Affry, father and son, Melfort, d'Ossonville, Tourzel, Champigny, Clermont Tonnerre, Pont l'Abbe, d'Aermigerode Brige, Fleurieu, Salvère, Adrien Duport, &c. They were all ordered to be in the Thuilleries on the memorable night, between the 9th and 10th, and a countersign was given to the leaders.

The following order was given by Rhuliers to the National Gens d'Armes in the Thuilleries, on the morning of 10th.

"The colonel of the 29th division of the Gens d'Armes, will attack the column (of the citizens) in the rear. He will divide them in all possible directions—and then charge them. The first common shot will be fired in the Thuilleries. The battalion of the Natoire will join the attack. The colonel of the 29th division will concert measures with the commandant of that battalion.

(Signed) "BOISSIEUX.

And under, "MANDAT,

"Chief of the division."

LONDON, August 21.

It is now pretty certain that the result of the council on Friday night was to take no part in the national disputes of France, unless it was resolved by the legislature in that kingdom to take away the life of the king of France, in which case, it is understood, that both Holland and England would be ready to declare against the revolution.

So much business have ministers at present upon their hands, that only three messengers are now in waiting out of thirty-four; the others being out upon journies.

By the mails arrived yesterday morning, we have a confirmation of the reports of the differences still subsisting between the Austrians and the Turks, on account of the delay of the demarcation upon the frontiers. A Turkish commissary, who had been charged to effect an interview with some of the principals concerned, has not been able to fulfil the object of his commission, owing to the untractableness of the inhabitants of Glaudusa; or, according to their authorities, upon some obscurities in the treaty of Sistove. The Pacha of this province, it is said, will be changed, and an army sent to force the Bosniaques to second the efforts of the Turkish commissary.

Aug. 23. It is mentioned in an article from Warsaw, that the Polish troops have refused to submit to the Russians; and that on hearing this intelligence the king went to the house of M. Bulgakow, to inculcate his wish that the Russians might contrive to avoid them; when M. de Bulgakow is said to have answered in the following terms: "The soldiers of my sovereign are not to be diverted from their determined course, and death will be the consequence to every one who shall dare to oppose them."

The accounts received from Coblentz by our ministers are, that the Prussians and Austrians were drawn up on the parade on the 16th instant, and that the king of Prussia himself gave the word—"to the right, march—to Paris."

The regent of Sweden is on the point of convoking the states-general of that kingdom, to decide on the three following questions: What reply is to be made to Russia, in consequence of her requisition of 16,000 men, conformable to the treaty of alliance? In what way shall the debts of the late king be paid? And what sentence shall be passed on the state prisoners?

Copy of a letter circulating in the camp of La Fayette the Ex-General, as he is termed in Paris, which, though not signed by him, is universally understood to have his sanction.

"Soldier-Citizens,

"It is not to be dissembled, that the constitution, which you have sworn to maintain, is no more. The Marseillois and a troop of factious insurgents, have besieged the palace of the Thuilleries. The national guards and the Swiss guards have made a vigorous resistance, but wanting ammunition, they were obliged to surrender.

"M. d'Affry, his Aides-de-Camp, and his whole family have been massacred.

"The king, the queen, and the royal family, took refuge in the national assembly; the insurgents followed them, and forced them to decree the suspension of the king, which was done to save his life.

"Citizens, you have no longer representatives; the national assembly is in slavery; your armies are without commanders,

"Petion reigns; the savage Danton and his satellites are masters: therefore, soldiers, choose whether you will re-establish the heir to the crown on the throne, as you will have Petion for king."

KINGSTON, (Jamaica) September 1.

A letter from Corke, dated July 7, mentions, that the Spaniards and French had bought up every good barrel of beef and pork, "which they could lay their hands on:" and that in consequence, there was very little of either article then on sale.

SALEM, October 9.

Last Thursday's Chronicle mentions, that captain Brookhouse was spoke with on Grand Bank, from Havre-de-Grace bound to Salem—that he sailed on the 4th of September, at which time the report was, that the brave Fayette had gone to England with his family. This news, we fear, is too good to be true.

PHILADELPHIA, October 14.

We are authorised to assure the public, that the following is the purport of the information received from governor Blount.

On the 11th of September last, he states that the Cherokees of the five lower towns on the Tennessee, headed by John Watts, had declared war against the United States and that the warriors, according to various information, amounting from three to six hundred, including about one hundred banditti Creeks, had set out upon some expedition against the frontiers, probably against the Cumberland settlement.

That in consequence of this alarming intelligence, he had ordered one regiment of the militia of Washington district into actual service, and that he had also dispatched an express to Miro district, on Cumberland river, with orders to brigadier general Robertson, to put his brigade into the best possible state of defence.

That the Cherokees had never complained to him of a single infraction of the treaty of Holstein, nor did he know of one committed by any citizen of the United States.

But on the 15th of September, he writes that he had received letters from Esquaka, otherwise the Bloody Fellow and the Glass, dated on the 10th of September at the Look-out-mountain-town, informing that they with the assistance of John Watts and other head men, had prevailed with the party that were collected for war to disperse and go peaceably to their hunting. That upon receiving this agreeable information, he had been induced to discharge the regiment of Knox, and to dispatch an express to general Robertson, of Miro district, with orders to discharge such of his brigade, as might be in service under the orders of the 11th instant.

MELANCHOLY INTELLIGENCE IF TRUE.

A merchant of this city, has received from his correspondent in Charleston (by the Georgia packet just arrived here,) a letter dated the 5th instant, which mentions that a vessel from France, arrived at Savanna, brings news to the first of September—That the queen of France had been murdered—that the king and the marquis de la Fayette were missing—that 5000 of the people of Paris had been put to death (by what party the correspondent takes no notice) and that the duke of Brunswick and his army, were within thirty miles of Paris.

Extract of a letter from Charleston, dated 3d instant.

"A brig arrived from London, in thirty-eight days, at Savanna, does not confirm the assassination of the queen of France, nor of the king of France being missing, but mentions a late riot in Paris, in which 5000 lives were lost."

CHARLESTON, September 28.

Letters from Georgia represent the peace between the United States and the Creek Indians to be upon a very precarious footing. "It is apprehended the Spaniards have been but too successful in sowing prejudices to the disadvantage of the United States, and it is even said that general M'Gillivray has been incessantly assailed from that, and perhaps another quarter, to break with us. Should the strength of the Creeks be joined to the general Indian league that seems to be forming against us, from an apprehension that their country is in danger, the consequences may prove seriously distressing to the whole frontier; and it may be found, perhaps too late, that regular armies are by no means calculated to repress Indian aggressions."

Sept. 29. Within a few days past, two expresses have arrived here from general Pickens and colonel Anderson, with dispatches for his excellency the governor. They contain the alarming accounts, that a general Creek war may be expected shortly to take place; and that the four lower Cherokee towns are hostilely disposed, and will act in concert with the Creeks. A body of the Cherokees, Creeks, and Shawanese, in all about 500 men, are now out, and it is supposed will fall upon the settlements at Cumberland or Holstein. Colonel Anderson has erected four block-houses on the frontiers; and we are informed, that the governor has sent forward a large supply of arms and ammunition, with orders to the commanding officer in Ninety-Six district to have the militia put in a state of preparation for active duty, and to raise and equip a troop of horse for each of the regiments.

Oct. 2. Yesterday several letters were received in town from the western frontier of Georgia, which inform, that the Indians are perpetually committing petty depredations in that part of the country; and, that a formidable invasion is hourly expected.

Captain Roberts has advanced about eighty miles from the Rock-Landing to a situation between the territories of the Creeks and Cherokees, where he is busily employed in erecting block-houses. Some Indians having lately stolen ten horses from the inhabitants on the Georgia side of the Oconee, captain Roberts ordered a detachment of his troops in pursuit of them; they came up with the Indians, and had a small engagement with them, in which one of the soldiers was wounded.

We are informed from good authority, that his excellency the governor will review the Charleston regiment of military, and the battalion of artillery; on Friday the 19th of October inſtant; and it is likewiſe expected that the ſeveral uniformed companies will be fully and completely equipped for that occaſion.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in the Creek Nation, to his friend in this city, dated 16th September, 1792.

"The ſuperintendent of Indian affairs, Mr. Seagrove, has given many preſents to the Indians, at the Rock-Landing, and the next treaty is to be held at St. Mary's, in November. The Spaniards have ſeveral emiſſaries in the nation, and an officer has lately made his appearance among the Cuſſetas; they endeavour all they can to ſtop the Indians going to run the lines, and it is feared by the well wiſhers of the ſtates, their ends will be anſwered, unleſs Mr. Seagrove comes up, and has an explanation with him, and gives a talk to the Indians, or at leaſt ſome perſons are at this critical juncture authoriſed ſo to do, who are qualified for the buſineſs. Mr. Timothy Barnard's whole time is almoſt taken up in endeavouring to perſuade the Indians of the advantages they may expect by treating with the Americans; and this man, though ſo well calculated for the purpoſe, is without power or pay from congreſs; he is a man of univerſal good character, has great influence among them, and has lived thirty years in the nation."

HALIFAX, (N. C.) September 12.

Extract of a letter from the territory of the United States, South of Ohio, of a late date.

"The Cherokee and Creek Indians have been continually through the whole ſummer committing hoſtilities and depredations on the ſettlements of Cumberland—a white woman and three children were purchaſed in the month of July, by a trader in the Creek nation, for 1400lb. of deer-ſkins, and brought to Knoxville. She had been taken from a ſtation near Bledſoe's Lick, on Cumberland, where four white men were killed, and ſeveral perſons taken priſoners, who may not all be fortunate enough to be ranſomed from torture and Indian barbarity. Several perſons were killed and wounded in the months of June and July, and a great number of horſes taken off from the very vicinity of Naſhville."

A very remarkable meteor was obſerved in the county of Rockingham and the neighbouring counties, in the night of the 11th of laſt month—its diameter appeared to be as large as that of the moon when full, and ſhed a much brighter light for about the ſpace of a minute, when it burſt into ſeveral pieces, with an exploſion very like heavy thunder. It appeared to paſs rather deſcending, in a courſe from N. W. to S. E. Several perſons who were in their beds, and, did not obſerve the light, miſtook the noiſe and ſhaking of the houſes for an earthquake, as there was not a ſingle cloud to be ſeen.

ANNAPOLIS, October 25.

Henry Hollingſworth, Edward Oldham, Thomas M. Forman and Patrick Ewing, Eſquires, are elected delegates to repreſent Cæcil county in the enſuing general aſſembly.

"Departed this life, at his houſe, Milton-hill, in Charles county, on the 28th of September, 1792, aged about 39, after a very ſhort illneſs, WILLIAM COURTS, Eſquire, a gentleman whoſe heart was enriched with all the amiable qualities of a chriſtian character. He was a man of good natural abilities, and ſound judgment. In private life, unaffected in his manners, of noble ſincerity of heart, and endeared to his friends by every ſocial quality. He was modeſt, candid, unaſſuming, and agreeable in his company and converſation—In his friendſhip, ſincere, ſteady and zealous; and his benevolence and piety exceeded by few; with the hand of charity ever ready to do good, and to diſtribute to the poor and needy. A loving and an affectionate huſband—fond parent, and kind maſter—to his relatives alſo he was obſerved to be kind and affectionate. An amiable wife and three children are left to deplore his loſs—by them and the neighbourhood—the goodneſs of his heart—his integrity, with his many virtues, will render his loſs moſt truly and extenſively lamented——We ſhould inceſſantly reflect, that our preſent ſtate is a ſtate of trial—that we are pilgrims and probationers of a day, and muſt neceſſarily, in a ſhort time, remove our tent from this world, and we know not the hour when the grim monarch may knock for us.

"As thoſe we love decay, we die in part;
String after ſtring is ſever'd from the heart;
'Till looſen'd life, at laſt but breathing clay,
Without one pang is glad to fall away.
Unhappy he who lateſt feels the blow,
Whoſe eyes have wept o'er ev'ry friend laid low,
Dragg'd ling'ring on from partial death to death,
'Till, dying, all he can reſign is—breath."

HAVING been informed that my name is mentioned in a ticket for electors of the Preſident and Vice-Preſident of the United States, which is circulating on the weſtern ſhore, I take this opportunity of returning my warmeſt acknowledgments to thoſe gentlemen whoſe partiality to me has honoured me with this nomination; but, at the ſame time, it is neceſſary for me to inform the public, that the routine of official duty in which I am engaged, and which will not cloſe until after the commencement of winter, will neceſſarily preclude me from ſerving in ſuch an appointment—I muſt therefore requeſt, that the name of ſome other gentleman may be inſerted in the ticket inſtead of mine.

JOHN DONE.

 We are authoriſed to ſay, that LEVIN WINDER, Eſquire, will ſerve as an elector of the Preſident and Vice-Preſident of the United States, if elected.

LATEST NEWS DIRECT FROM FRANCE.

[Until a late hour yeſterday we deſpaired of having it in our power to communicate to the public any later intelligence from France, than that heretofore announced—But through the polite attention of an obliging correſpondent, we have been favoured with accounts from France to the 27th Auguſt, which were received by the brig Benjamin, captain Brookhouſe, which arrived at Salem—The moſt material article of which is extracted from a letter of an American gentleman now in France, viz.]

HAVRE, Auguſt 25, 1792.

"I arrived here from Paris laſt evening—where I have witneſſed the moſt dreadful ſcenes of tumult, outrage and civil war. [The writer here details the events of the 10th Auguſt, and thoſe which followed, to the impriſonment of the French king—of whom he writes:] "The king is now a priſoner; he is to be tried, and if found guilty they mean to unking him, and let him go where he pleaſes—If not, they will allow him a penſion to live on, like any private man.

"The marquis La Fayette, with about 300 of his principal officers, have made their eſcape by the following ſtratagem:—As ſoon as the marquis heard that the king was dethroned, and that commiſſaries were on their way to the army, he ſent ſome of his officers to Sedan, to detain them—he then propoſed to the army, that Paris was in a diſtreſſed ſituation—and wiſhed to know if they would march to its relief; which they refuſed. He then ſent to the officers at Sedan, to ſend on perſons to perſonate the commiſſaries, with a ſtory fabricated for the purpoſe to the army—and while theſe pretended commiſſaries were negotiating matters with the army, the marquis and his friends made their eſcape."

[The Paris papers announce the deſertion of M. La Fayette and his officers, but no other event of conſequence.]

We will juſt add, in the language of the Paris editor, that the aſſembly, being furniſhed with evidence of the conduct of the ſcoundrel La Fayette, Mr. Laſource moved, that he be held up as the object of indignation to all Frenchmen, and that his name ſhould excite horror and contempt in the hearts of all good men. And Mr. Merlin moved, that to eterniſe the crimes of this imitator of Cromwell, his houſe ſhould be deſtroyed, and on the ſpot a column be erected, on which his crimes ſhould be engraven, and thereby be tranſmitted with exertions to poſterity.—We have not learnt that the decrees paſt.

Eight Dollars Reward.

RAN away from the subscriber, on the 12th inst. a negro man named WILL, about 23 years of age, five feet nine or ten inches high; had on, when he went away, a round felt hat, osnabrig shirt and trousers, and a coarse cloth over jacket, short and round, he had other cloaths with him, which cannot well be described, he is likely, of a very dark complexion, full faced, and has a remarkable fine set of teeth, he is slow of speech, and rather awkward in his manners, is a tolerable good blacksmith, but has never worked as foreman of a shop; he was formerly the property of Henry May, late of this county, blacksmith. This fellow was taken out of gaol at Alexandria, in Virginia, about eight days ago, but has since made his escape; when he was apprehended he had a forged pass in his possession, and it is expected he may have procured another. Whoever takes up the said negro and brings him to me, or secures him in any gaol so that I get him again, shall receive the above reward.

12 RICHARD BEARD.

N. B. It is probable this fellow may endeavour to pass for a free man, as there are many free blacks passing about the country; when he went to Alexandria his intention was to have made his escape by water, I therefore forewarn all masters of vessels, and others, from harbouring or concealing him at their peril, if they should they may expect to be dealt with agreeably to law.
